Someone asked if I'd be hosting/linking the videos here.  I think that's a good idea, but I'd feel a little odd having it as some kind of authoritative video on programming the Apple IIgs.  I'm just a beginner trying to explain things to myself.  Also, there only 3 videos so far, so I'd hate to start a page for it and if I lose momentum.  It may only ever be 3 videos which would be kind of silly (I hope that won't be the case, of course!)

Any comments?  Perhaps add it to the "Library" page?  Or make a new "Videos" page?  Or something else?
